

The Democratic press of Missouri yaps and snarls at the heels of Governor Hyde with all the curish viciousness of a mongrel, ill-bred pack. This because the Hyde administration is endeavoring to give the state something different from the rule of the late Democratic regime of fattening up a constantly growing army of partisan public jobholders at the expense of the taxpayer before it undertook to serve the public at all. In conformity with the Republican party's promises, Governor Hyde has undertaken an exact reversal of the Democratic policy, and gives the people consideration before the party. What is the Democratic politicians and press are the most excited over and finding the greatest fault with? Isn't it because Governor Hyde's program lessens the number of offices, boards, commissions and various forms of duplicated service contrived and constructed with an eye to no other purpose than to make places for a horde of hungry partisans? Haven't the Democrats balked this reform and progress by throwing the laws by which the Republicans have honestly and consistently sought to accomplish it into the referendum, and isn't it obvious that in their doing so the great object was to protect Democratic jobholders in their jobs and to prevent the elimination of useless, revenue-eating places against the time when they hope to bunko the people into restoring their thoroughly discredited party to power again. But all this yelping and snarling at the heels of Governor Hyde is not going to confuse the voters, man or woman. They have kicked the Missouri Democracy out of power to get something for their money besides partisan placeholders, functioning to no greater or more useful purpose than pitching horseshoes on the state house lawn. Governor Hyde's reform program is going to be sustained at the polls.

Trying to resuscitate old John Barleycorn is about as hopeful as getting a cheese sandwich from the material the moon is made of.

President Harding's proposal to the other leading nations of the world for an international conference with the view to bringing about a reduction in armaments seems to have met with a popular response from the governments approached, although Japan, which is included in the invitation, is disinclined to allow the movement to enter upon any terms which would block her imperialistic program in this respect is probably Great Britain's attitude in relation to such portions of the world over which she dominates, and so with France and Italy, and even so with the United States, to make the circle complete. Each of these nations has interests and policies which encroach upon the interests and policies of some other one of these dominating nations, so that we are skeptical of any material diminishment of military preparedness by the world as the early outcome of President Harding's proposal.

The reason Congress hasn't reduced taxes yet is due to the fact that Congress feels the need of all the money the present taxes are bringing in. What it doesn't want to reduce is its revenue-eating projects.

It was stated the other day that the coal miners of England would receive 85 percent of the profits of the mines. There must be some such system in vogue in this country, too, only the mine operators have taken on another 85 percent profit for themselves.

Shaping a road law for the spending of sixty million dollars and at the same time satisfy the varied interests of all sections of the state in the distribution of the fund is a task inconceivably complicated and difficult, and therefore we are disposed to view the labors of the Legislature in shaping that law with a lenient eye and accept the result on its completion with a sense of justice to all upon whom this serious duty has devolved. The big, outstanding fact of this road building question is, that it is an utter impossibility to make real hard roads in every county in the state with sixty million dollars at the present cost of such work, and therefore, if the whole state is to immediately receive a system of improved highways from the money available, the term "hard surfaced" will have to be allowed considerable latitude.

bushels of corn for 1 pound of bacon. For 5 pounds of wool, enough to make a "genuine" all-wool suit, a farmer is now glad to get $1, but to buy such a suit of clothes costs him 500 pounds of wool. Last year a good pair of shoes could be bought with one cowhide. Today it takes 5 cowhides to get the shoes. A bushel of wheat now brings the farmer about $1.10 a bushel, but baker's bread costs him the same price as when he sold his wheat at $2.00, and so on all up and down the line. Who is getting it?

The Democrats in Congress are quick to seize the advantage accruing from Republican differ-

Muskrat Get Alligator.
Aniston, Ala.—A party of four Aniston hunters, who had returned from a big hunt in Florida with several deer and a large number of wild ducks and other small game, had an exciting experience with a wild muskrat and an alligator. Members of the party chased the wild muskrat into an alligator hole and then dug in to get it. Instead they brought out after some difficulty, a big alligator, which had eaten the cat after a short battle in the hole.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Washington County Circuit Court, to August term, A. D. 1921, in vacation, June 22nd, 1921.

In the Circuit Court of Washington County, ss.

State of Missouri, at the relation and to the use of George Carr, collector of the revenue of Washington County, in the State of Missouri, plaintiff, against

Orin D. Olney and the unknown heirs, consort, devisees, donees, aliases, immediate, remote, and voluntary, and involuntary grantees of Orin D. Olney, and all unknown persons interested in the real estate herein described, defendants.

At this day comes the plaintiff, herein, by his attorney, before the Clerk of the Circuit Court in vacation, and files his petition and affidavit, alleging, among other things, that Orin D. Olney, and the unknown heirs, consort, devisees, donees, aliases, immediate, remote, and voluntary, and involuntary grantees of Orin D. Olney, defendants herein, are not residents of the State of Missouri.

Plaintiff further states that said non-residents and unknown persons interested in the real estate herein described cannot be summoned by this action by the ordinary process of law.

Whereupon it is ordered by the Clerk in vacation that Order of Publication be made that said defendants be notified that plaintiff has commenced suit against them in this court, the object and general nature of which is to enforce the lien of the State of Missouri for back taxes due for the years 1916, 1917, 1918 and 1919, on the following real estate belonging to said defendants, to-wit:

Tract No. 1. The northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section thirty-three (33), township thirty-seven (37), north, range one (1) east of the 5th principal meridian, containing 40 acres.

An itemized statement in the nature of a tax bill, showing the amount of taxes and costs now due on said real estate, for the years aforesaid, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of twelve and 22-100 dollars, is filed with said petition and made a part thereof, and that unless the said defendants be and appear in this court at the next term thereof, to be begun and holden at the Court House in the town of Potosi, in said county, on the 22nd day of August, 1921, and on or before the sixth day of said term, if the term shall so long continue, and if not then on or before the last day of said term, answer or plead to the petition in said cause, the same will be taken as confessed and judgment will be rendered accordingly. And it is further ordered that a copy hereof be published according to law, in the Potosi Journal, a weekly newspaper published in said County of Washington and State of Missouri.
